Survey report

On November 12, 2018, a survey was conducted by the Department of Sociology of Faraktewadi, a rural community. In this survey 15 students were participated in B. A. Part-III. Students conducted this survey through prepared questionnaires. The students met the villagers and filled the questionnaires. What kind of businesses do the rural people of Faraktewadi village do in addition to agriculture, what kind of technology is used for the development of agriculture, what schemes have been implemented for the development of the village and how many people have benefited from those schemes, How is public participation in village development work? What caste and religion people live in the village, what facilities of education and health are available and how women participate in the development of the village. The purpose behind this survey was to understand which community people live in the center of the village. Sarpanch of the village Mrs. Shital Farakte gave special support. The principal of the college Dr. C. J. Khilare motivated and guided to the head of Department of Sociology, Prof. M. K. Kannade and Prof. A. V. Jadhav.
