REPORT

Date: 5th Dec. 2022

Being a social, human being always like to stay in a society for the development of individual and social level. Curiosity is an instinct which helps to search, find out or to invent something beneficial for the society and the nature. Curiosity and need are the two basic reasons for the research. Research means creative study and systematic work to increase the stock of knowledge. The implementation of the research in a practical level is an Avishkar. To imbibe the values of research in the human being is very important and Indian Education System is working on very effective level for this reason. To Espouse the Research values and point of view Central Government have initiated in this field and State Government have implemented from 2006 – 2007 . Researcher Student from different disciplines under U G level, P G level and Ph.
